Self-Paced Courses: Start when you want ($245 CAD)

Self-paced courses are independent study courses completed in an online learning management system. These courses require the student to plan and execute their own strategy for completion within the course time frame. Students work with an instructor to successfully complete all required readings, assignments, papers, and exams by the course closing date. Instructors will be available by phone and by email to answer questions and offer any assistance necessary during the course.

Upon registration, students will receive the course start date, selected syllabus, access to the learning environment, and the course closing date, which is calculated as sixteen weeks from the date of registration.

These courses are available 365 days a year! No schedule to consult; they are always running.

Virtual Classroom Courses: Live online classes ($245 CAD)

Virtual Classroom courses typically operate on an eight-week schedule (see reverse for schedule), allowing for one week of pre-course work, six weeks of live classroom instruction, and one week of post-course work. Classes are two hours in duration and will be held once a week for six weeks on an assigned day, providing a total of twelve hours of live classroom instruction. During the six weeks of live classes, students will log in to a video conference via Google Meet. This provides real-time interaction with the instructor and other students in the class, creating a more robust learning environment over independent study.

Instructors will assign out-of-classroom coursework totalling a minimum of sixty-two hours. Coursework may include reading, response questions, short assignments, projects, and/or papers.
